LOCAL CONTRACTOR DROWNS, TWO LBC MEN RESCUED

Sgt. McCarr Tells About 20-Ft. Wave

By BOB REINHARDT
Courier-Times Staff Writer

"The ocean was calm, with no waves, when we fished yesterday," according to State Police

SGT. ADRIAN MCCARR

EDWARD P. MCHUGH

Sgt. Adrian J. McCarr, one of ten men whose boat overturned in returning to Great Egg Harbor Inlet, near Ocean City, N.J., killing three persons.

The tragic accident happened in the channel a mile from the inlet, when the fishermen came upon unexpectedly rough water. McCarr estimated the wave that overturned the boat was 20 feet high.

"But I could not be sure," he added. "There was such a scramble."

McCarr, interviewed by telephone at Shore Memorial Hospital, Somers Point, N.J., also described the long ordeal of the shipwrecked men, waiting hours for rescue, fearing that darkness would conceal their mishap from any rescuers. A big fishing party boat passed 200 yards away and failed to notice their cries and gestures, the sergeant said.

This was not the first time McCarr has fished in the boat, owned by Edward P. McHugh, Pennell contractor, who drowned.

Boat Capsizes In Sea

Three men, including Pennell Contractor Edward P. McHugh, were drowned yesterday when his 29-foot cabin cruiser capsized near the Great Egg Harbor Inlet while returning from a day of fishing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Survivors of the marine tragedy, members of a fishing party, included State Police Sgt. Adrian J. McCarr, 45, former commandant of Fairless Hills sub-station; McHugh's son, Robert, 16, and Charles McCafferty, 17, of Glenside, nephew of Joseph McCafferty, Lower Bucks automobile dealer.

They were rescued by Coast Guard boats and taken to hospitals at Atlantic City and Somers Point, N. J.

Also drowned were the Rev. M. Vladimir Firczak, 42, rector of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, Bethlehem and a man tentatively identified as Clarence Jewell, Bethlehem grocer.

McHugh's boat, the "Four-in-One," had gone out to the Atlantic Ocean at 7 a.m. with a party of ten. The boat was returning at about 5:30 p.m. when unexpected high waves were seen in the channel. A wave that hit the side of the boat overturned it.

Priest In Poor Condition

McCarr, Howard A. McKim, of Philadelphia and the Rev. Paul Firczak, of Beaver Meadow, brother of the killed pastor were treated at the Coast Guard station and taken to Shore Memorial Hospital, Somers Point, for treatment. Father Paul was reported in poor condition.

Treated and discharged at Atlantic City Hospital were George Vacendak, 40, of Bethlehem; Frank Kukitz, 54, Bath; Robert McHugh and McCafferty.

McKim was piloting the ill-fated boat when it capsized. He said the vessel had passed the first channel marker but was a mile outside the inlet when the mishap occurred. A wave estimated at 20 feet high flung over the stern of the boat and ripped loose the cabin.

Boat Couldn't Return

Coast Guardsmen were called from another boat whose owner saw the accident. The first rescue craft took aboard McCarr, McKim and Father Paul, who had climbed back into the "Four-in-One" when another big wave righted it but filled it with water.

The second rescue boat had to go out to sea to find the other survivors, who had lost their hold on the cabin boat but kept afloat with life jackets.

The rescue operation took two hours, the Coast Guard said. It took four hours to recover the two bodies.

McHugh, who lived at 122 Monroe Ave., Pennell, was owner of the Bucks County Construction Co., of that borough, an excavating and street-building firm. He came to Pennell with a dump truck in the early 1930's. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Hatboro Man Drowns At Beach Haven

BEACH HAVEN, N.J. (UPI)—A 47-year-old Pennsylvania man was drowned and a 14-year-old New Jersey boy was reported missing in separate incidents on the beach here yesterday.

The dead man, Joseph Wayes, of Hatboro, was pulled from the rough surf by life guards but he failed to respond to artificial respiration. He was pronounced dead by Dr. William E. Dodd of Beach Haven.

In the second mishap, police said three boys were playing on a raft after the lifeguards had gone off duty when Louis De Lorenzo of Plainfield was knocked off and disappeared. Authorities continued to seek De Lorenzo's body.

One of the seven rescued, Frank Kukitz, Bath, Penna., is being pulled onto the Coast Guard dock. Three others are dead. The ten were aboard the Four-In-One Cabin cruiser out of Ocean City, N.J. They were attempting to negotiate the inlet when the craft broached to on a high wave and capsized. (UPI Telephoto)

Supplement Today

School bells soon will be ringing. Yes, Mother, it's not far off. And that means it's time to get the young ones ready for opening classes.

Inside today's Courier-Times is a 24-page supplement packed with "Back To School Days" specials at the Levittown Shop-A-Rama.

Integration Rulings Must Be Backed--Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today there can be "no equivocation as to the responsibility of the federal government" to see that court rulings on school integration are carried out.

He also said that each state has the responsibility to see that the court mandates are not opposed by violence.

"It (a state) cannot by action or deliberate failure to act permit violence to frustrate the preservation of individual rights as determined by a court decree," the President said in a statement which he read at the opening of a news conference.

"It is my hope that each state will fulfill its obligation with a full realization of the gravity of any other course."

Defiance by a state of this duty would present "the most serious problem," he said.

"But there can be no equivocation as to the responsibility of the federal government in such an event," he said.

The President said his position was exactly that of a year ago. He then quoted from a statement then in which he said:

"The very basis of our individual rights and freedoms rests upon the certainty that the President and the executive branch of government will support and insure the carrying out of the decisions of the federal courts."

The President did not specifically mention the use of troops. But his statement appeared to make it clear that he would use them again as a last resort.

He said that all Americans must understand that if individuals, communities or states are "going successfully and continuously to defy the courts, then there is anarchy."

He said that all Americans have "the solemn duty" to comply with final orders of the courts.

Missing Twp. Boy Found By Neighbor

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times News Editor

An 8-year-old Bristol Township boy with a love for flowers and butterflies was the object of an intensified police and fire search yesterday.

The youngster, Ronnie Halem, of 1040 Harrison St., Bristol RD 1, was missing for nine hours before being found by a neighbor at 6:57 p.m.

More than 100 volunteers from five Bristol Township police departments joined with police in searching for the boy in a wide-spread hunt that ranged from Bath Road to the woods adjoining Delhaas High School.

James Lynch, 27, of 1301 Harrison St., spotted Ronnie walking along Bath Road in the vicinity of Lagenfelder Lake about an hour after the firemen had been called out.

Reunited
The youngster and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard T. Halem, were reunited moments later in the Third District fire house.

Ronnie was then taken to the Bucks County Rescue Squad by James Monte, Bristol Township commissioner and volunteer fireman, where the youngster was examined and treated for slight cuts.

Ate Well
Ronnie, a retarded youngster who has a penchant for taking a stroll in search of flowers and butterflies, was first missed at 9:30 a.m. yesterday. His father, Bernard, 38, was home at the time. The elder Halem has been driving buses for the past five years with the Trenton Transit Co. Ronnie's mother, Irene, 41, was at work in the Acme Supermarket, Croydon.

Halem, who was enjoying a day off from work, said that Ronnie ate a good breakfast and then went outside. At 9:30 Halem realized his son wasn't in the neighborhood. He then set out searching for the youngster. After checking various neighboring homes, Halem began hunting in the woods next to Delhaas High School. "I waded (Continued On Page 3, Col. 6)

Good Evening!

Startling, revelations of the Senate Rackets committee.

Leadership of the Teamsters Union composed of mobsters, hoodlums and goons, apparently, or completely dominated by same. Time the U. S. A. get hep to what's happening in this connection.

Hurricane Cleo running out of punch as it breezes northward far out in the Atlantic and there's a little worry you can quit worrying about.

Nobody's worrying about this ideal weather we've been having, incidentally, even if blankets are being prematurely snatched from the mothballs.

Route 13 speed checks to continue, says Bristol Chief Vince Faragalli, because motorists still can't read the traffic signs.

Perhaps well similar checks be used at once and frequently on other highways of the region. No reason in the world why motorists should take their lives in their hands when they venture out on the roads, simply because a goodly number of other motorists ignore the traffic laws.

Levittown style show please—and a wee bit revealing.

Thank heavens the fool sacks are going into oblivion and girls are beginning to look like girls again.

You have troubles? Commiserate with the poor Phillies. They just can't seem to win ball games any more and that late-inning defeat by St. Louis is just another example.

But the Yanks and Braves appear to be weakening a bit, too. Maybe before the season's over there'll be a bit stiffer competition in both leagues.

An old-timer is one who remembers when an allergy was just an itch and all you did was scratch it.

You're only young once, but you can stay immature indefinitely.

Take it easy with the driving.

Man-Killer To Testify For Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Rackets Committee brought a blonde man-killer from her Florida prison cell today to recount her romance with "strong-arm" Teamsters member Barney Baker.

Mrs. Ruth Brougher, serving a 15-year manslaughter term at the Lowell, Fla., Correctional Institution for the 1954 shooting of Murray Dubois, was the second of Baker's women to testify in the current investigation of the men around Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa.

Baker's former wife, who said the 30-pound roving unionist's affair with Mrs. Brougher broke up their marriage, provided a pair of sensations yesterday.

Mrs. Mollie Baker testified her husband once told her St. Louis taxi executive Joseph Costello got the missing $300,000 Greenlease kidnap ransom in 1953.

Costello invokes "Fifth"
She also said Baker was a "very close" friend of New York Gov. Averell Harriman, and that Baker had boasted Harriman would give him "anything."

Mrs. Baker's statement about Costello was propped by testimony from St. Louis Police Capt. John Doherty who said authorities have long linked Costello, one of his Ace Cab Co. drivers and two former St. Louis policemen with the ransom disappearance after (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Stockholders Approve Merger Of Banks

Stockholders of the Peoples National Bank and Trust Co., Langhorne, and the Central-Penn National Bank of Philadelphia, approved a merger agreement of the two banks yesterday under the name and charter of Central-Penn National Bank of Philadelphia.

The merger plan was announced last June by both banks and is now subject to approval of the Comptroller of Currency. The basis of exchange under the agreement was 1 1/5 shares of Central-Penn stock for each share of Peoples National Bank stock.

Gaily colored tights, short skirts, the Ivy League look for men, bulky sweaters, and cotton dresses were predominant. The chemise look did not steal the show, as other fashions were also shown. Attractive clothes were shown for the expectant mother.

The following persons helped arrange the show: Miss Jane Travis, Pomeroy's; Mrs. Bonnie Bond, Pomeroy's; Fred Coleman, Pomeroy's; Miss Mary Petrucci, Tower Hats; Miss Mary Mitchell, The Yardstick; Dave Boxman, Penn Fruit Home and Garden Center; Miss Betty Gonzi, Yards; and Fred Schmidt, Sears. Mrs. William Willis helped obtain the models.

The outdoor floral display and garden accessories were supplied by Penn Fruit Home and Garden Center and the interior set was arranged by Fred Coleman of Pomeroy's.

Furnishings were through the courtesy of Pomeroy's, Yard's, Sears Roebuck and Company and draperies by The Yardstick.

All the stores belonging to the Association contributed to the show. Horace McNab, public relations director and account executive of the Association, was in charge of the event.

AFL-CIO Prepares To Lower Boom On Carpenters Head

Hutcheson's Using 'Fifth' Causing Split

UNITY HOUSE, Pa. (UPI) — AFL-CIO leaders are preparing demands that Carpenters Union president Maurice A. Hutcheson explain why he refused to tell Senate investigators about alleged jury-fixing. Indications are he will resign as an AFL-CIO vice president rather than talk.

The move to require an accounting of Hutcheson's behavior was up for approval by the AFL-CIO Executive Council, perhaps today.

Informed sources predicted Hutcheson, who so far has absented himself from council sessions at this garment workers-run summer camp, would resign as an AFL-CIO vice president rather than justify his silence before the Senate probes.

Successor Picked

The 61-year-old carpenters' boss previously took the Fifth Amendment before a Senate Public Works Committee when asked about quick profits on an Indiana highway land deal. He then was cited for contempt of Congress by the Senate this week for refusing to talk when asked if he used union money to fix a jury considering the road scandals.

In anticipation of Hutcheson's departure from the 29-man governing body, the council Tuesday selected a building trades leader—Painters' Union president Lawrence M. Ralerty—to fill a vacancy created by a resignation. This was regarded as a tip-off that council leaders expected Hutcheson to go.

The carpenters are the largest and most powerful of the 18 AFL-CIO unions involved in construction. They have long played a key role in labor activities from coast to coast.

Baby Drowns In Bathtub

A 20-months-old-baby girl was scalded and drowned in a bathtub shortly before 11 a.m. today.

The girl, Susan, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kleckner, 2818 Crafton Drive, Nottingham, had just been taken out of the tub by her mother and was put in the living room to play with her three-year-old brother.

The baby was rushed to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia by a neighbor but was pronounced dead on arrival. Hospital authorities said that the mother believes the two children had returned to the bathroom while she was busy elsewhere in the house and that one may have turned on the hot water.

The Kleckners have two other children, Bruce, six months old, and Gary, five.

Raymond O'Brien, who lives with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Coyne next door to the Kleckners, drove the Kleckners to the hospital.

to swim underwater to get out.

"We went out at about 7 o'clock in the morning," McCarr said. "The sea was calm, it was wonderful, with no waves. We caught some tuna, bonito and mackerel, but it was just a fair catch."

The roughness in the channel was a complete surprise, McCarr said.

"Something had happened to the channel," McCarr said. "There were big breakers. It wasn't at all like that in the morning."

"We made two or three passes to get in. We got over the first and second of the big breakers and we thought we were doing all right."

"Got Us On The Side"

"Then one got us on the side," McCarr swam to the surface to see the boat sitting upside down.

"There seemed to be four or five men trying to swim for the bottom of the boat," he recalled. "About four were off in the distance. Someone had gotten the life preservers out and was trying to distribute them to everyone. I had none, but I got a cushion that floated."

McCarr hung to the boat hull and was washed off

Steel Plant Assessment Hiked For '59

The Fairless Works of U. S. Steel Corp. is assessed $113,970 higher for 1959 taxes than for this year, Chief Bucks County Assessor James M. Nealis said today.

The 1959 assessment, land plus buildings, is $22,906,980, he said. For this year's taxes, the Falls Township plant is assessed at $22,793,010.

Open To Inspection All 1959 tax assessments are now open to public inspection until mid-September. The County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes will then hear any appeals that are made.

John T. Welsh, chairman of the tax board and of the county commissioners, said 6,000 property owners have received notices of assessment changes. Last year 158 appeals were filed among the 110,000 property owners of the county.

Nealis said the increased assessment at the steel plant is due to the improvement of bar pit land, filled in as plant site area, and construction of new buildings and building additions.

The land was assessed at $6,210,700 for 1958 and at $6,352,200 for 1959. Building values were set at $69,766,000 for 1958; $70,004,400 for 1959.

Appeals Filed The 1957 and 1958 assessments of the Fairless Works were appealed by the Falls Township School Board and Supervisors, who maintained they were too low. The county board upheld the figures, and the township took the matter to county court, where no decision has been made.

Nealis, assistant chief assessor James Gemmell and Falls Township Assessor Paul Terrels set the 1959 figures for the Fairless Works.

Missing Township Boy Is Found By Neighbor

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after an exhaustive, but futile search, Haleman telephoned Bristol Township police. Officers, under Sgt. Harry Bauer, began searching for the missing lad.

Unable to find the boy, the police called in the township fire units about 6 p.m.

Carl DiMidio, Third District

fire chief, said that over 100 volunteers from five companies joined in the search. Besides Third District, the companies were Edgely, Levittown No. 2, Croydon and Newportville.

An airplane, preparing to join in the hunt, was just about to take off from 3-M Airport when the pilot was informed by police that the boy had been found.

Only Few Scratches Ronnie, covered with dirt and soaked clothing, had only a few scratches to show for his wanderings when found by Lynch and firemen from Levittown No. 2.

Lynch, an operator for the Bristol Township Highway Department, had seen Ronnie on several occasions during the day, unaware that the boy was missing. Lynch was working on a stone pile at Lagenfelder Lake off Oxford Valley Road at the time. He saw a boy playing on the bank of the lake and twice yelled to the youngster to keep away from the water.

When Lynch came home from work, his wife told him police were looking for a "little boy" wearing trousers and suspenders. Lynch, sensing this could be the boy, immediately took off for the lake area. He spotted the youngster and called him by name. Apparently scared, Ronnie ran in the opposite direction.

Walking Along Road Lynch then came back to his home and summoned volunteer firemen who went after the boy. Proceeding down Bath Road they spotted Ronnie walking along the road.

The boy was taken into the Third District fire house where he was later reunited with his family, given a checkup and taken home.

The Halemans, originally from Mt. Carmel, Pa., have lived in their one-and-a-half story stucco house on Harrison St. for the past six years. Ronnie, described by his mother as a boy interested in flowers, butterflies, arts and science, attends a special class at George Taylor School, Croydon. The four-foot, 55-pound youngster is the Haleman's only child.

Democrat Head Named Vets Affairs Director

The elevation of James T. Brennan, Levittown, from assistant director of veterans affairs to director was announced by the Bucks County Commissioners yesterday.

Brennan has been assistant to Richard J. Murray, who recently retired after 15 years in office. The new director is chairman of the Bristol Township Democratic Organization and a Navy veteran of the Korean War.

Chairman John T. Welsh, of the county commissioners, paid high tribute to Murray as "an excellent public servant of the highest caliber, of the greatest assistance to veterans of Bucks County."

Sunshine Predicted For Lower Bucks

Sunny skies were predicted over Lower Bucks County today by the Trenton Weather Bureau.

Temperatures this afternoon will be in the low 80's and it will be fair tonight, with a low of 65. Tomorrow should be sunny and warm, with temperatures reaching the mid to upper 80's.

This morning's low was 60 degrees at 6 a.m., seven degrees higher than the record low of 53 for the date set in 1915. Yesterday at 6 a.m. the thermometer dropped to 55 degrees, just one degree higher than the record low of 54 set in 1915.

Thundershowers are predicted for Friday. And it should be cooler over the weekend, the weatherman says.

Panel Body Truck Upsets On Route 1

A panel body truck was destroyed when it flipped over on Route 1 near Janney yesterday afternoon. Middletown Township police identified the driver as Joseph D. Seifritz, 30, of 88 Gablehill Road, Goldenridge, Levittown. He was not injured. Police said mechanical failure apparently caused the driver to lose control and the car to turn over.

LCA Against Oppenheimer School Name

The Levittown Civic Association last night joined Levittown American Legion Post 960 in opposing the name of Bristol Township's new J. Robert Oppenheimer Senior High School.

The stand was taken by a vote of LCA members by a big majority at its meeting. The vote followed ten minutes of pro-and-con debate.

Motion Introduced

The motion to oppose the school name was introduced by Joseph Segal, vice president and former president of the Association. He and Harry McWilson argued for it. Against the motion, and supporting the Oppenheimer name, was Joseph Hitov, former chairman of the Incorporation Study Committee.

Segal and McWilson based their arguments on Oppenheimer's loss of security clearance. Hitov said the atomic scientist had a good and loyal record.

Mary Summerfield, president of the Bucks County Magistrates Association, addressed the Association on the work of justices of the peace. She defended the JP system, which the LCA opposes, saying it was up to the people to become interested and remove any "bad apples" from office. Also speaking on the JPs' work was William M. Power, solicitor of the Magistrates Association.

Jurisdictional Problems

Milton Berkes, secretary of the Falls Township Board of Supervisors, spoke on the jurisdictional problems of curbs which have cracked or begun to deteriorate.

The Civic Association moved to form a Teenage Council, of children and LCA members, to set in motion an effective canteen program. The motion to form the Council was made by Vance Alexander, chairman of the government committee.

Myers' Former Home On Sheriff's Sale List

The former Bloomsdale Gardens home of William E. and Daisy Myers, first Negroes to move to Levittown, will go on sheriff's sale Oct. 3 to satisfy a $9,117.30 debt on a $9,500 mortgage.

The sale was ordered at the request of the Federal National Mortgage Association. The Myers' sold the Bloomsdale Gardens home, at 5717 Mitchell Road, to Julius and Samantha Boyd last year when they moved to 43 Deepgreen Lane, Levittown.

As sellers of the home, the Myers' will be held liable if the sale does not raise the full amount of indebtedness. In most sheriff's sales the mortgage holders purchase the properties by bidding the amount of the debt.

The clown troupe is made up of Bill Pogany, a cubmaster and father of four children; Tommy Allison, who'll be a sophomore at West Chester State Teachers College very shortly; brother Pete, one of the area's better divers, who'll be a freshman at West Chester; and Bill Clark, Morrisville High School junior.

Clowns Need Uniforms

Of course a clown act must have suits — and that's where Mrs. Marvina Allison, mother of the Allison boys, comes into the picture. She's been busy all year sorting out old clothes in the attic to make costumes for the foursome.

"I use corsets, long underwear, balloons, evening gowns and mops to make up the suits," she laughed. And she promises a complete new outfit for tonight's finale.

The boys agree that "whatever looks the worst, that's what we wear." And their performance off the board is made more difficult with the bundles of clothing they wear.

Likes "Cannonball"

Pogany, superintendent of construction for Micklewright and Mountford, architects and engineers, was a member of the varsity swimming team at River Rouge (Mich.) High School and his featured act is the "cannonball," which makes a big splash 20 feet high. And the kids at the pool try to duplicate the popular Pogany's antics.

Clark likes to do his version of the "flying airplane," and Pete likes the "running gainer." For Tom it's the "rusty jackknife," in which he says "you don't open."

The "porpoises" agree it is more difficult to swim with clothing — "you swallow a lot more water." And they get a lot of fun out of their antics from the diving board "but you can break your back if you hit wrong."

Mrs. Allison has already made eight complete costumes for previous shows at the pool this summer.

Fine Project

"Being a family man and scoutmaster, I think the community pool is one of the best community projects ever undertaken in Morrisville," Pogany declared. And the other three nodded their head in agreement, for they've all learned to dive at the pool since it was built four years ago.

Alex McDonald, executive director of the pool, said several other events are on the program tonight. Demonstrations will be given by beginner, intermediate and swimmer groups, with competitive swimming. The senior and junior water ballet teams, under the direction of Mary Ralph, will perform. The "tiny tots" youngsters from six to eight years of age, and the junior and senior divers, will perform from the diving board. And there will be swimming races for boys and girls.

Yardley Resident Opposes Apartment

A Yardley resident said yesterday that the proposed 36-unit apartment building on Delaware Ave. is "of vital concern" to every property owner in the borough and urged all residents to attend a Board of Adjustment hearing tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building.

Mitchell Carter, of 125 South Delaware Ave., whose property would be next to the proposed apartment building, said that property value of every house in the block would decrease if the adjustment board made a variance to permit the building of the new apartment house.

Second Hearing

The adjustment board will meet for the second time on an application from Louis Cahan, Trenton builder, who seeks a variance to build the apartment. It previously turned down a zoning change but agreed to another hearing when the Cahan concern said it would present additional evidence.

"The proposed apartment building is 20 feet from our property line," Carter declared, "and we have spent considerable money on our property since our original house burned down in 1956. In spending we took it up with the Yardley powers-to-be and were told that in the area only one-residence houses would be permitted. It is now proposed to build a 36-unit apartment building on a lot only a little larger than our two acres."

Carter said the proposed apartment building will have sewage and garbage problems.

"I have checked with the county and state Boards of Health," he said, "and neither have approved any of these smaller sewage systems of this type. As for ratables, which it is claimed will benefit Yardley in taxes, I was told by George Hackett, tax collector, that educational costs for some 15 to 20 children will be greater than the amount of money received in taxes from the proposed apartment."

Suggests Vote

"My principal objection, the thing I want to bring to every resident's attention, is that the Board of Adjustment has entirely too much power. They can set a precedent by allowing an apartment in this section. The only way to change our zoning laws should be by a vote."

He said he was "not criticizing" the adjustment zoning board but "I think laws should be made very definite and not subjected to change at the whim of any adjustment board."

Carter said he would "voice my opinion but I've got so much involved I'll take it to the courts in Doylestown to prevent it if the adjustment board changes its first decision."

In Bensalem Accident

Sgt. Lawrence Michaels, Bensalem police, said the Missimer car collided with a car driven by Woodrow Thomas Thompson, 18, of 3418 Upper West End Ave., Trevoze. The accident happened on Street Road when Thompson's car crossed over into the lane of on-coming traffic and collided with the Missimer car, police said.

Thompson is charged with driving on the wrong side of the highway.
